

HELPING ISRAEL'S DENTAL COMMUNITY

ADAPT, RECOVER, AND MOVE FORWARD

Dentists, faculty members, students, and forensic dental specialists have faced extraordinary challenges serving in military reserve units, identifying victims through forensic dentistry, treating patients during wartime, and balancing professional responsibilities while coping with personal loss and ongoing trauma.

These experiences have created an urgent need for emotional support and practical training that helps dental professionals adapt, recover, and move forward despite adversity.

THE NEED

FORENSIC DENTISTS

Bearing witness to unimaginable tragedy. Volunteer members of the Israel Police Forensic Dentistry Unit continue to identify victims and support recovery efforts. The emotional impact of this work leaves many carrying invisible wounds that require ongoing psychological support.

DENTAL STUDENTS & FACULTY

Learning and teaching through extraordinary adversity. Students and faculty continue their academic and clinical responsibilities while coping with personal loss and repeated military reserve service. Many are navigating the difficult transition between conflict and everyday life while striving to succeed.

DENTAL PROFESSIONALS

Caring for others while facing their own challenges. Dentists throughout Israel continue to experience chronic stress, burnout, compassion fatigue, and trauma. Access to timely mental health resources helps preserve both their well-being and their ability to provide compassionate patient care.

OUR RESPONSE

Renewing Minds, Restoring Hope provides practical training and psychological support that strengthen participants' ability to withstand stress, recover from trauma, and thrive personally and professionally.
